Meet Brandon Adams of Celina Ohio. Member of the neo-Nazi group "Operation Werewolf" and employee at @eatoncorp in Van Wert Ohio

"Operation Werewolf" takes it's name from the failed last ditch attempt by the Nazis turn the tide of the war through a campaign of terror and assassinations

The Nazi Werewolves Who Terrorized Allied Soldiers at the End of WWII
Though the guerrilla fighters didn't succeed in slowing the Allied occupation of Germany, they did sow fear wherever they went

The current "Operation Werewolf" fully embraces fascistic aesthetic and as with all iterations of fascist ideology is centered around masculine violence

This is not a reading group, or a band of LARPS, but an org committed to turning it's members into living, breathing, instruments of fascist violence

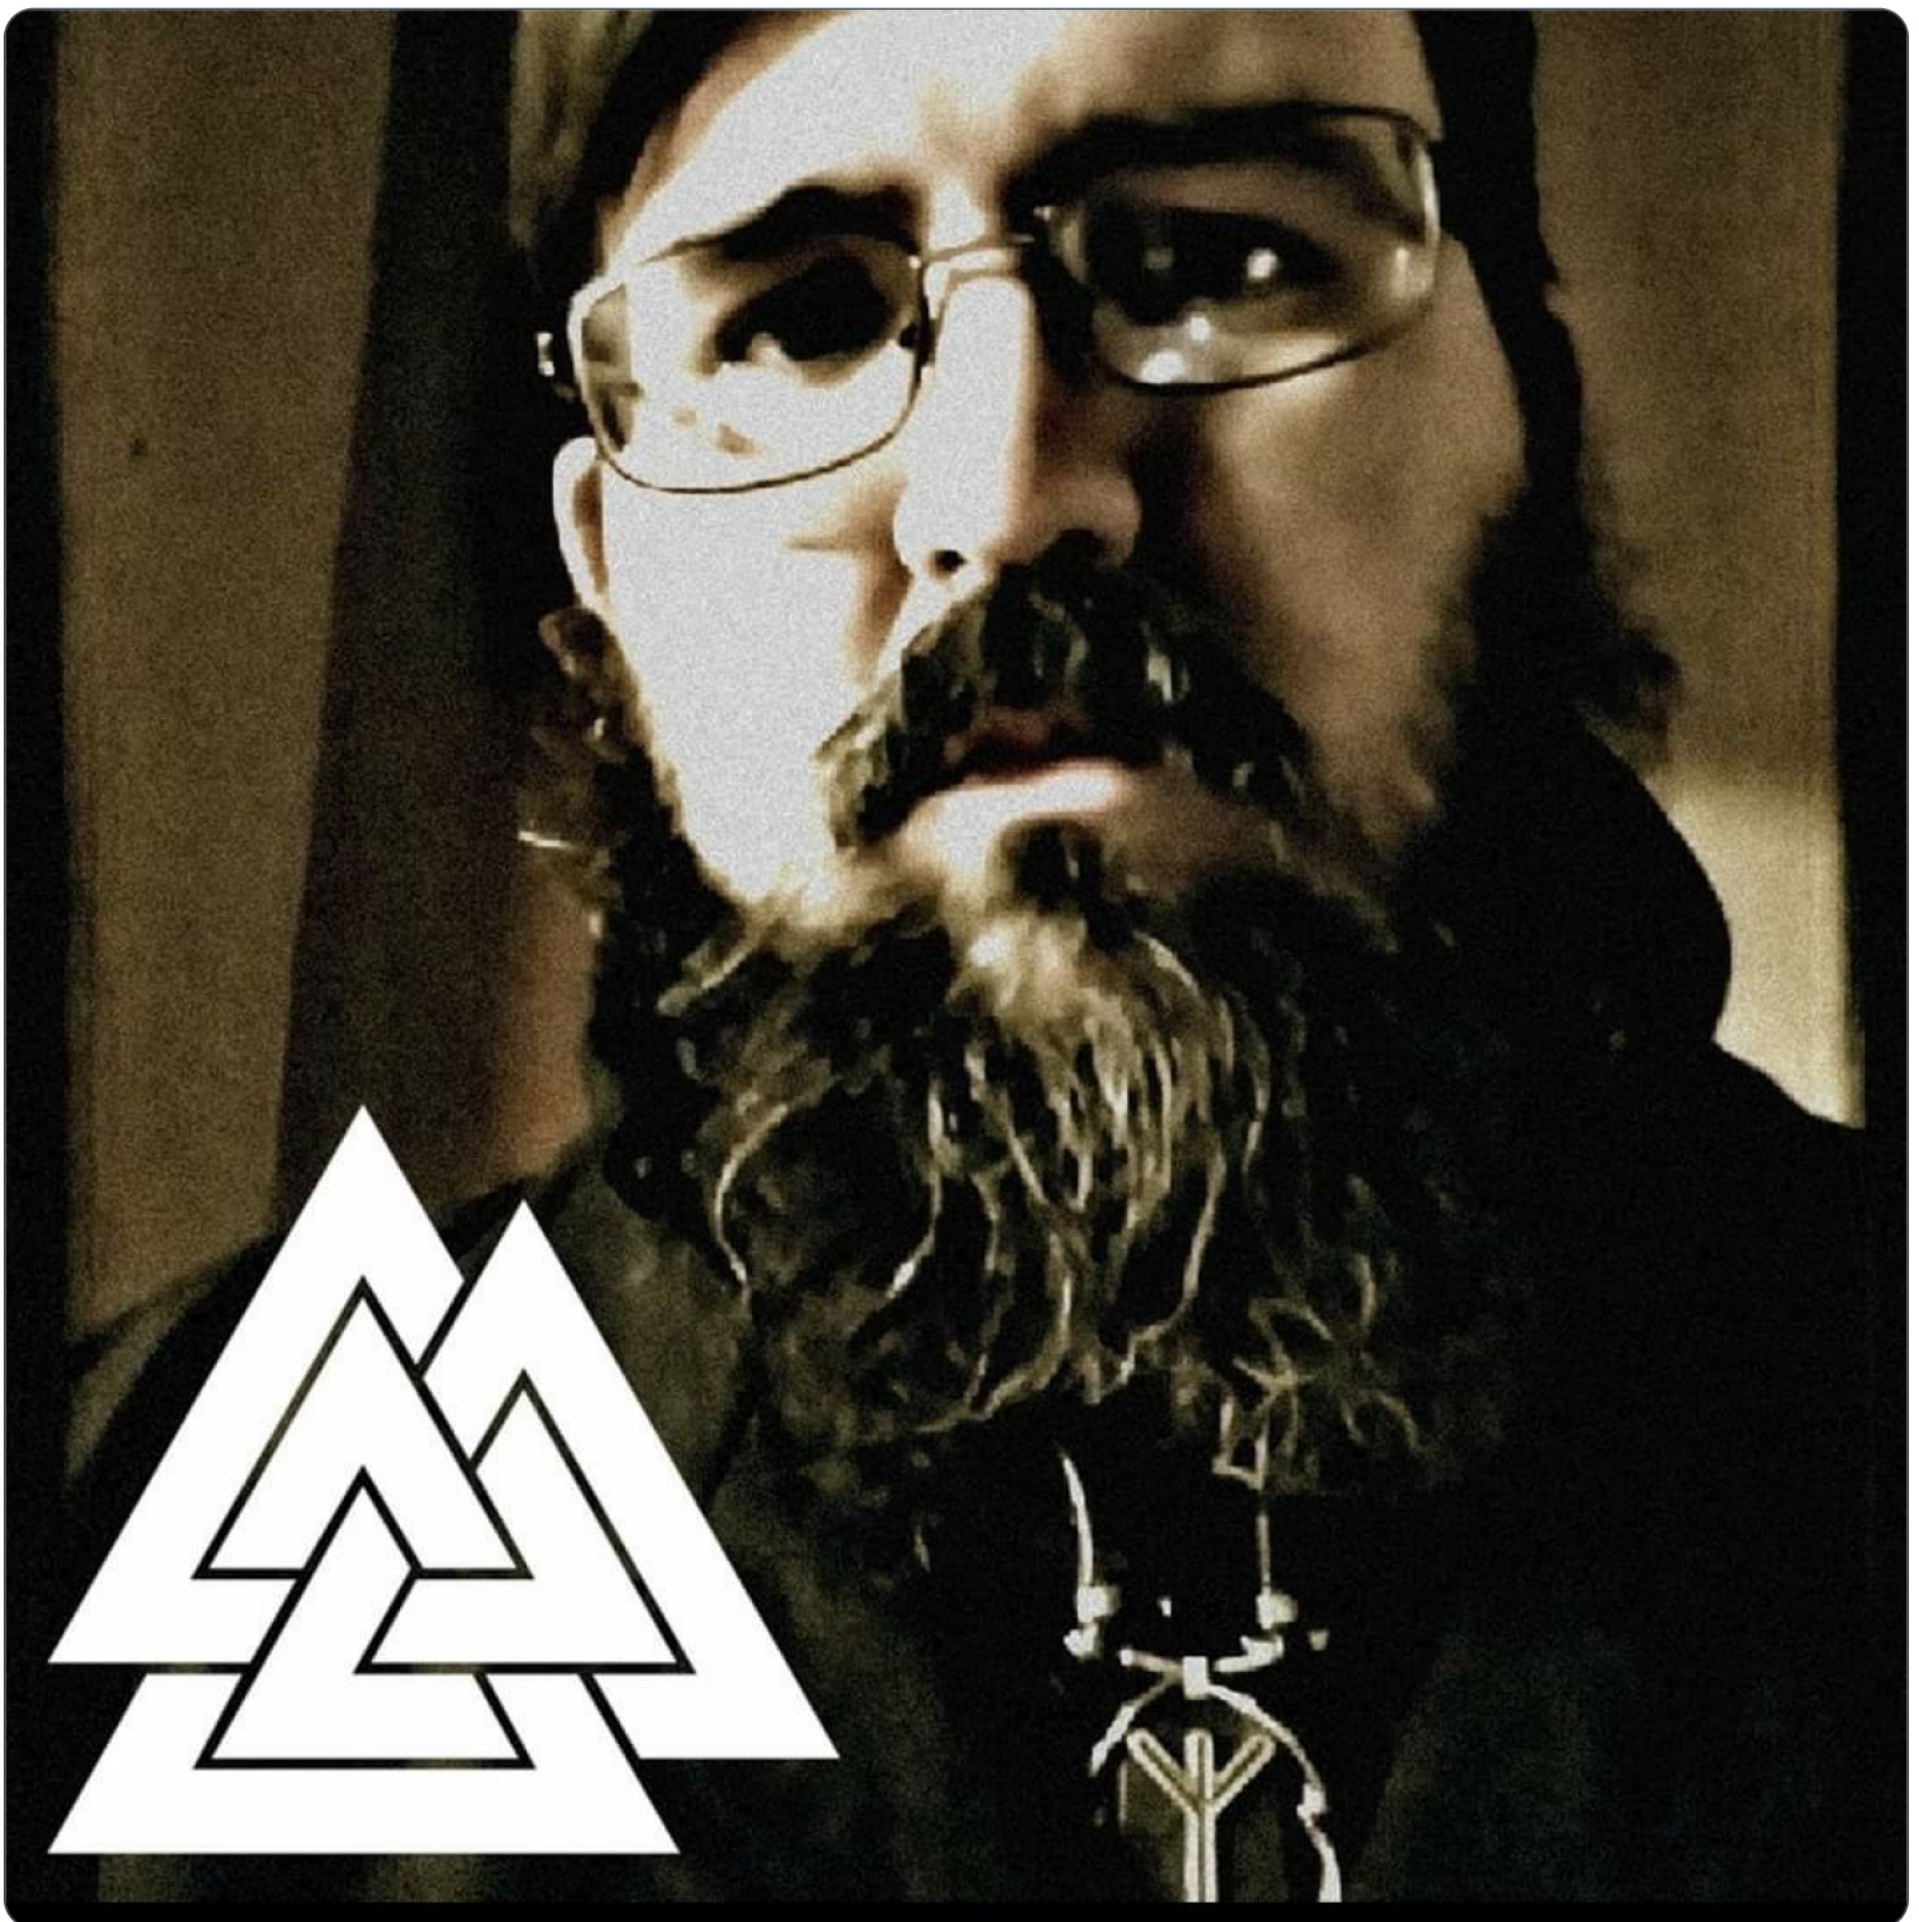

Some are solitary practitioners, performing the rituals of life and death amongst the ruins of modern civilization, lone wolves howling songs of destruction and new growth in the woods that encroach on the edges of the rotting Empire, waiting for the fall. Others have made it their mission to seek each other out, forming militaristic divisions, chapters led by their strongest member, creating a war-band that seeks to carve its own myth, to create its own saga of power and might—men and women challenging each other to strive ever higher.

Iron and Blood!

As our economic structure convulses from crisis and patriarchal and racial hierarchical structures seem to fracture, the promise of a resurgent white supremacist order via male violence finds its adherents

Brandon is an enthusiastic proponent of Op Werewolf and repeatedly tries to recruit friends by portraying it as one that is primarily oriented around fitness

Considering the slew of friend requests I just responded to, is anyone else interested in joining the self improvement/fitness group? Everything from workouts, combat, and intellect is discussed. OPWW operatives welcome and encouraged.

If there's anybody who wants in to the fitness / self improvement group, please let me know. Also a place for Operation Werewolf members to network.

This underscores the cult-like recruiting tactics of a group that uses self-improvement and fitness as a gateway to outright fascism.

Also, guns.

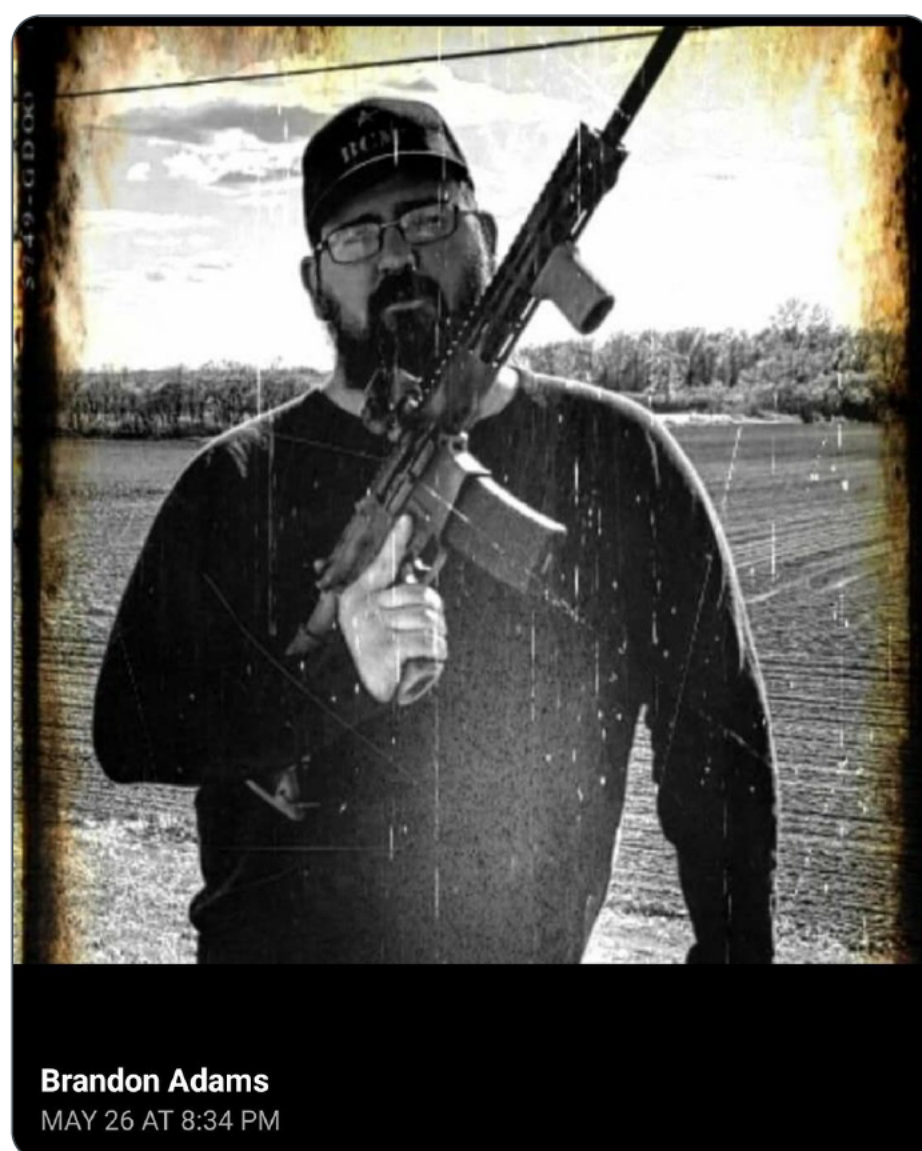

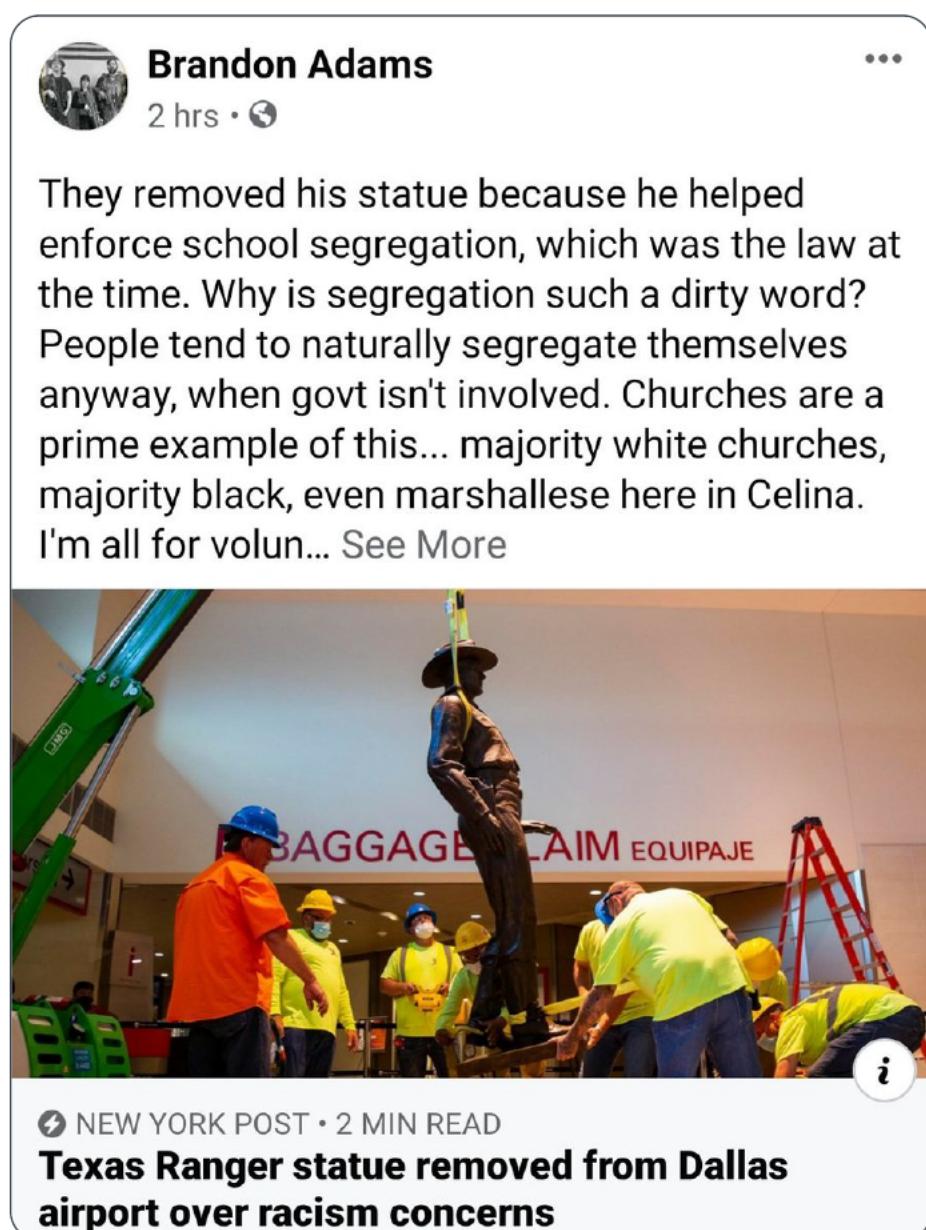

Beyond advocating on behalf of the Nazi weightlifter group, Brandon's FB feed is post after post of "boogaloo", racism, anxiety around patriarchal decline, promises of violence, and photos of his kids.

Brandon doesn't understand how segregation worked, but he is a heavily armed white supremacist with a thirst for violence. His community needs to be aware of this.

And what Nazi would not share posts from the founder of "The Right Stuff" and "The Daily Shoah" Mike Enoch

The implication of these signs is that it is perfectly fine, even virtuous, to attack white owned businesses. That easily extends to white owned homes and then just to white people.

Ask any white business owner if they would feel comfortable putting a sign in the window saying this is a white owned business. Even in a place with no rioting. Then ask them to honestly explain why they wouldn't do it.

Shit, I could see a Federal hate crimes investigation resulting from a white business owner putting a sign like that in their window. The claim would be that it's sending a hostile and discriminatory message or some shit.

Op Werewolf offers men like Brandon a kind of "ego ideal" with which to aspire to. Hope within hatred and the promise of a new world built out of the old.

"Op Werewolf" much like it's Third Reich era terror campaign from where it gets it's name isn't fashioning men into weapons for sport, but for action.

Brandon is employed by @eatoncorp in Ohio and works at their Van Wert facility. They should know that he is actively recruiting on behalf of a neo-Nazi organization.
